

North Star Narratives

AUGUST 2025
GRADE 5-8

FROM THE EDITORS DESK

August at NSIA unfolded like a vibrant tapestry. The tricolour soared high on Independence Day, filling our hearts with pride. Gentle hands crafted bonds of love in the Eco-friendly Rakhi Making Competition. Diversity Week painted our halls with the many hues of culture and kindness. The Investiture Ceremony of the Student Council echoed with promise, as young leaders stepped forward to shoulder responsibility with dignity and vision. Each celebration was a verse – of freedom, of care, of harmony, of responsibility, of curiosity. Together, they sang a song of growth and gratitude. As you turn the pages of this edition, may August remind us that true learning is not only in books, but also in the bonds we build, the values we cherish, the responsibilities we embrace, and the journeys we take together.

India's strength - diversity with pride.

Traditions on a single stage.

Many cultures, one celebration.

"Flavors of Unity"

From spicy curries to sweet treats, our Diversity Week lunch celebrated the richness of cultures through food. Each dish was a symbol of tradition, love, and togetherness, showing that diversity truly tastes delicious!

As part of Diversity Week, our students came together to share lunches that represented different regions, cultures, and traditions. From savory dishes to sweet delicacies, every plate told a story of heritage and belonging. The lunch hour turned into a celebration of flavors, friendships, and the joy of learning about one another's roots.

Food is more than just a meal—it is a reflection of culture, tradition, and identity

A plate full of cultures, a heart full of unity!

*"A Feast of Cultures"
What better way to celebrate Diversity Week than through the universal language of food?*

"Partnership that Nurtures Progress"

PTM-1 where parents and teachers came together to discuss, share, and strengthen the journey of learning.

Conversations that build confidence and clarity.

United for every child's success.

Where guidance meets understanding.

Celebrating every step of learning.

Book fair turned PTM into a festival of learning
